Invitation

Dear Industry Colleagues,

On behalf of ISU leadership, we are pleased to invite your participation and support for the 2026 15th International Symposium on Urolithiasis. The event will be held from October 1–2, 2026, at the Northwestern University Medical Center in Chicago, Illinois.

Since its inception in 1968, the International Symposium on Urolithiasis (ISU) has served as the premier global forum for kidney stone research and clinical practice. Bringing together urologists, nephrologists, and healthcare specialists, the symposium facilitates the exchange of groundbreaking ideas and advancements in stone disease.

After a disruption due to the pandemic, this prestigious quadrennial meeting returns in 2026 to the Northwestern University Medical Center in Chicago. The 2026 program will feature an elite roster of international experts delivering a comprehensive scientific agenda focused on the latest innovations in the diagnosis, treatment, and prevention of kidney stones.

- With the rapid influx of practice-changing clinical trials, healthcare providers must stay informed to ensure accurate diagnosis and effective management of kidney stone disease.
- The International Symposium on Urolithiasis addresses these needs through a comprehensive program featuring interactive lectures, surgical videos, case studies, and panel discussions. Participants will explore the latest evidence-based strategies, including genetic diagnostics, 24-hour urine analysis, dietary interventions, and pharmacological management.
- Building on its longstanding tradition of global collaboration, this symposium serves as a premier forum for urologists, nephrologists, and allied health professionals. It is designed to enhance the knowledge and skills of the entire care team—including dietitians, PAs, nurses, and residents—to ultimately improve patient outcomes in the field of nephrolithiasis.

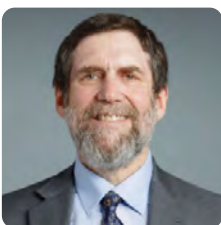

Thank you for considering this request. We look forward to your partnership and are eager to receive your formal commitment. Please feel free to reach out via email at tgillespie@veritasamc.com or call 847-920-6573 with any questions.

We look forward to seeing you in Chicago!

Kind regards,

Tyler Gillespie
